Abby has that rare combination of stoke, commitment and finesse that sets her apart from the average snowboarder. When I got the chance to travel with her to Japan this season she showed just how much she loves snowboarding. On numerous occasions, she has completely blown me away. She has earned my respect and I am stoked to ride with her. Whether it's her urban rail attack, stomping backcountry "mushes", throwing down at the Nippon Open or coaching the crew at Snow Park, Abby does it with style and determination. She is truly world class. If you ever get the chance to ride with her...think yourself lucky - I do.
